Brian Jackiw represents both plaintiffs and defendants nationwide in bankruptcy and commercial litigation, including avoidance actions, complex bankruptcy claim disputes, breach of fiduciary duty actions, and bankruptcy fraud litigation.

Brian has prosecuted millions of dollars of preference litigation claims on behalf of liquidating trustees and chapter 7 trustees, and he has defended hundreds of preference and fraudulent transfer claims on behalf of individual defendants in jurisdictions throughout the United States. In addition to his experience in bankruptcy courts, Brian assists clients in general collection and commercial law litigation.

In representing official committees of unsecured creditors, Brian engages in significant and complex issues on behalf of clients, including assets sales, liquidation under chapter 11, and disputes regarding a secured creditor's perfection of a security interest, among others. Moreover, Brian regularly litigates against and defends former directors and officers of insolvent corporations with respect to breaches of fiduciary duties to creditors, thereby increasing recoveries for unsecured creditors.

Before entering law school, Brian served as an officer in the U.S. Army. In his spare time, he volunteers as Scoutmaster of Troop 270 in Frankfort, Illinois, is a Director for Rainbow Council, BSA, partakes in a multitude of outdoor activities, and is an avid gardener of fruits and vegetables – with two beehives to top it off.
